The Study of the U.S. Institute for Secondary Educators (Teachers) is an intensive post-graduate level academic program with integrated study tours whose purpose is to provide foreign secondary educators the opportunity to deepen their understanding of U.S. society, culture, values, and institutions. The ultimate goal of the Institute is to strengthen curricula and to enhance the quality of teaching about the United States in secondary schools and other academic institutions abroad. Posts and prospective applicants are encouraged to visit our website page to obtain general information about the Institutes.

Institute Description:

The Study of the U.S. Institutes for Secondary Educators (Teachers)

The focus of the Institute will be on providing content and materials for participants to develop high school level curricula about the United States. The main focus of the Institute for teachers is on content and materials about the United States rather than teaching methods and pedagogy. Through a combination of traditional, multi-disciplinary, and interdisciplinary approaches, program content will examine the history and evolution of U.S. institutions and values, broadly defined. The program will also serve to illuminate contemporary political, social, and economic debates in American society. The four week academic residency will be complemented by a one week study tour. The aim of the study tour is to showcase the cultural, geographic, and ethnic diversity of the United States.

ELIGIBILITY: SUSI is highly competitive and aims for geographic and gender balance. Priority is given to candidates with:

- firm plans to enhance, update, or develop courses/materials with a U.S. studies focus or component;
- limited or no prior experience in the United States; and
- Special interest in the institute topic as demonstrated through past scholarship, accomplishments, and duties.

Candidates should be mid-career, typically aged 30-50, highly-motivated and experienced secondary school educators (teachers, trainers, curriculum developers, textbook writers, administrators, ministry officials, or other professionals with responsibility for secondary education). Ideal candidates are seeking to introduce or enhance U.S. studies in their curricula or offer specialized seminars/workshops for education professionals in U.S. studies or related fields.

English fluency is vital to a successful experience. Institutes are rigorous; participants are expected to read substantial assignments in English and actively participate in all discussions.

Other Essential Program Information:

FUNDING: The U.S. Department of State will cover program costs, including air travel and ground transportation in the United States, as well as cultural, housing, subsistence, mailing, books, and incidental allowances.

HOUSING & MEALS: Participants may share living quarters during the four-week residency. Private rooms cannot be guaranteed. .

REQUIREMENTS AND RESTRICTIONS: All participants are expected to participate fully, attend all lectures and activities, and complete assigned readings. Family and/or friends cannot accompany participants on any part of the program.

Frequently Asked Questions:

- What degree of English proficiency is necessary? Participants must be fully proficient in English, so they can fully understand lectures, actively participate in discussions, and read and write assignments in English.

- b. To what extent do the Institutes cover teaching methods and pedagogy? SUSIs for Secondary Educators focus primarily on content, materials, and education related to the United States.
